

Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar

1. Circle the correct spellings to complete the sentences below.

Kat behaved so viciously/vitiously/victiously towards Jean-Paul because she was suspicious/suspicious/suspitious of him. She made up a ficticious/fictitious/fictcious tale about losing her family because she was concious/constious/conscious of the fact that telling the truth could be dangerous.

2. Turn the following statements into questions by using question tags. The first one has been done for you.

Statement	Question
You're not from round here.	You're not from round here, are you?
You'd do the same if you were me.
We all know what the Nazis do to resistance fighters.

3. Rewrite the following sentence so that it is written in the passive voice.

Kat pinned the boy to the ground.

4. Use adjectives and prepositional language to expand the following noun phrase: the boy.

5. Rewrite the sentence below using a semicolon to mark the boundary between the two clauses.

Kat told Jean-Paul that she had been separated from her parents she wondered whether he believed her story.