

Come hear Sean Cooney of the Young'uns perform your school's song at the Cambridge Festival on Saturday, 23 March 2024, 2-3 pm, as part of the Imaginarium installation!

On the lawns of King's College,
King's Parade

FREE outdoor performance!

Featuring songs from When Cambridgeshire Sings co-written with the children of Wilburton Cof E Primary School; Barrington CofE Primary School; Glebelands Primary Academy; Kingsfield Primary School; Petersfield CofE Primary; Shirley Community Primary; St Helen's Primary; Swavesey Primary; Townley Primary

Please tell children and families so they can come along too to experience the Imaginarium Takeover, an installation to build a greener, fairer and more connected future together asking 'What Would Nature Do?' hosted by Cambridge Curiosity and Imagination (CCI), an arts and well-being charity that designs ways for people of all ages to develop their own curiosity and imagination by inviting them into playful environments and giving them permission to express their own ideas, along with Cambridge Carbon Footprint and artist Hilary Cox Condron.

There will also be the opportunity to participate in writing a new song about 'What Would Nature Do?' The 2024 Cambridge Festival - An Imaginarium Takeover of King's College - Cambridge Carbon Footprint

See you there!
