

Using Conjunctions to Express Time, Cause and Place

A conjunction joins two sentences together. It might tell us when something happened, why something happened or where something happened.

When?

Why?

Where?

I was scared by a kitten

A piranha ate my homework.

I lost my shoe.

I went to bed late.

My room is a huge mess.

I was scared by a kitten while I ate my breakfast.

I was scared by a kitten because it roared like a lion.

I was scared by a kitten where I sat.

before, after,
while, when

because,
so

where

1. Choose a sentence to extend by using a conjunction.
2. Extend it by using a when, why and where conjunction.
3. Check that the added clause has a verb.
4. Check that your extended sentence makes sense.